

2020 CZO WEBINAR SERIES

The U.S. CZO Program presents the 2020 CZO Webinar Series to highlight research findings of CZOs and discuss the impact and relevancy of their findings on society and environmental sustainability.

Wednesday, April 8th at 2:00 pm ET

"How Climate & Geology Pre-Condition the Response of Upland Watersheds to Human Impacts"

Roman DiBiase, Penn State University
Susquehanna Shale Hills CZO

Wednesday, April 22nd at 3:30 pm ET

"Predicting mountain-ecosystem response to disturbance through scaling subsurface water-storage capacity"

Roger Bales, University of California Merced
Southern Sierra CZO

Wednesday, May 6th at 3:30 pm ET

"Critical Zone Evolution of the Central Lowlands: Glacial and Anthropogenic Legacies"

Alison Anders, Qina Yan & Praveen Kumar
University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign
IML CZO

Wednesday, May 27th at 3:30 pm ET

"Coupled Root Exudate and Reactive Transport Modeling"

Susana Roque-Malo, Jennifer Druhan & Praveen Kumar
University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign
IML CZO

More to come...

To participate, join webinar via Zoom at: <https://psu.zoom.us/j/241765840>.

Additional information on the series, please visit <http://criticalzone.org/national/news/story/2020-czo-webinar-series/>

To sign-up to receive a webinar e-mail reminder, please fill out this form: <https://forms.gle/FoorHtjCU4i1oHt87>.